The diagram illustrates the Marking Process flowchart, which is divided into two main sections: Marking and Moderation.

Marking Process:

- The process starts with a Sub-total column on the left, consisting of a vertical stack of boxes.
- The Mark section begins with a Mark button (a red box with a white 'X' and a sad face icon).
- Below the button is a Q number field (a red box with a white slash) and a mark awarded field (a red box with a white slash).
- The process then moves through a series of four identical Q number and mark awarded fields, each with a red box and a white slash.
- After the fourth field, there is a Mark button (a red box with a white checkmark and a white 'X' icon).
- Below the button is a large red box labeled Exams Office Use Only.
- At the bottom of the Marking section is a QR code.

Moderation Process:

- The process starts with a Moderate button (a green box with a white checkmark and a white box icon).
- Below the button is a No change button (a green box with a white checkmark and a white box icon).
- If change is selected, the process moves to a section field (a green box with a white 'Q' and a white box icon).
- Below the section field is a number field (a green box with a white box icon).
- Below the number field is a mark awarded field (a green box with a white box icon).
- The process then moves to another section field (a green box with a white 'Q' and a white box icon).
- Below the section field is another number field (a green box with a white box icon).
- Below the number field is another mark awarded field (a green box with a white box icon).
- After the second mark awarded field, the process moves to a Comment/query? field (a green box with a white box icon).
- Below the comment field, the process branches into two options: Fixed (a green box with a white checkmark and a white box icon) and Not sure (a green box with a white question mark and a white box icon).
